This story begins with a leg about to be amputated. The leg's owner is Zi-han, who thought he would be discharged from the hospital soon after the operation but develops complications and passes away unexpectedly. His wife, Yu-ying, is inspired to seek his missing leg. During this search, she starts to recall how he led her in a waltz when they first met, how they fell in love, and how their relationship gradually shattered. Retrieving the leg is how she tries to say farewell to the man she once loved. Only after that can she begin her own journey.

As We Like It, a reworking of Shakespeare's play, tells of the blossoming love between Orlando and Rosalind, who is disguised as a man. Filmmakers CHEN Hung-i and Muni WEI opted for the lovebirds to be played by women, thereby referencing Shakespeare's era when women were banned from the stage and all roles were played by men.

This colorful, energetic film follows Orlando and Rosalind and three other potential couples in their search for one another, all set in an internet-free neighborhood in the bustling metropolis of Taipei where there is no rush and people consciously live together. Fairytale settings, magical meetings, cryptic messages, but also fights, kidnappings and family feuds, the film upends the binary world, making it a loving spectacle with plenty of music and doll-like designs.

The film is inspired by Farewell, To The Year Gone By and The House Spirit by Japanese novelist Kanoko OKAMOTO. It depicts the "landscapes of love" of men and women in contemporary times. OKAMOTO examines the love between men and women from an Asian perspective, which is greatly influenced by Buddhism. In contemporary cinematic language, the film shows the forward-looking and universal resonance of OKAMOTO's 1930s literary works far beyond their region and era.

A Lean Soul examines the life and works of Taiwanese novelist Qi Dengsheng. The filmmakers were able to obtain in-depth interviews not only with Qi's closest friends and relatives, but also with the notoriously camera-shy Qi himself. The film also vividly dramatizes many passages from Qi's intensely autobiographical works of fiction. The result is an intimate and candid portrait of one of the most important and controversial Taiwanese writers of the last 50 years.

Art teacher HAN Shu-hua has been teaching painting to children with autism spectrum disorder for over two decades. This documentary portrays four of HAN's students, closely following their daily interactions with others, especially their family members whose devotion and sacrifice are both heart-wrenching and life-affirming. Hidden beneath their seemingly detached appearance are their fierce devotion to their art, exposing their bursting passion for life and their unique way to express emotions and needs.

For commercial distribution purposes, the film received 12 million TWD through crowdfunding within two months. It clearly shows that there is great interest and anticipation from the general public. It will be released in more than 20 commercial cinemas throughout Taiwan in early November.

As Asia's economy booms, its traditional social order has also shifted. Though female autonomy has gradually awakened in various societies and entered a new era, misogynistic views and behavior remain the norm. Deepest Uprising interviews of a group of female poets from different regions across Asia, including Taiwan, India, Sri Lanka, and the Philippines. Their personal situations, insights, and poems reflect the problems they have confronted in their respective countries, very often caused by government policies and traditional practices. Exposing oppression and hostility against women, the film highlights how female poets struggle to break free from their shackles in a changing society, shaping a new Asian female literature movement and a rich world of new ideas.

There remains only silence in the "Green Jail," the once-upon-a-time large-scale mining village located on Iriomote Island, Okinawa, Japan. Before World War II, under Greater East Asia Imperialism, Green Jail imprisoned thousands of miners. These miners were from Kyushu, and other places of Japan, as well as Japanese colonies: Taiwan and Korea. The 92-year-old Grandma Hashima is the adopted daughter of the Taiwanese head miner, YANG Tien-fu. With hardly any visitors, grandma lives alone in a shaggy wooden house where her family once lived. What happened in the coal mine? Grandma's adoptive father, who recruited hundreds of Taiwanese miners to Green Jail, knowing they might never return home... Was he an oppressor or the oppressed victim of Japanese imperialism? Through her memories of guilt, pain, anger, and the miseries of the past 80 years, this film also portrays the last years of Grandma Hashima's life.

The family produced seven writers within three generations, all of whom have written profoundly influential masterpieces. Unfulfilled Dreams is directed by CHU Tien-wen and tells of her parents' story from the daughters' perspective. The sisters found a diary of their father's journey to Taiwan. They also found their mother's writings about her life growing up among doctors in a small town in Miaoli, as well as 120 "non-love love letters" exchanged between their parents. Revolving around four major physical and diplomatic battles — the First Guangzhou Uprising, Sun Yat-sen's detainment in London, the Second Guangzhou Uprising, and the Wuchang Uprising — of revolutionary groups in the dying years of the Qing Dynasty, this work interweaves one man's regret, as he inadvertently causes a dear friend's death, with the rivalries and cooperation between different revolutionary camps, and the crumbling disarray of an empire in its death throes. The courage and friendship of this group of fearless young men and women pave this saga of toppling a millennia-long empire, as they fight for the common good unto their last breath.

Twenty years ago, LIN Sheng-hsiang was a successful athlete who enjoyed glamor and glory. Once a child abandoned by the education system due to his unimpressive academic performance, LIN has redeemed himself in the modern pentathlon, an obscure sport in Taiwan. Now a coach, LIN tries his best to serve disadvantaged children who have a similar background to his own.

This year, he meets CHEN You-hsuan, a talented young girl from a remote village in eastern Taiwan. LIN devotes himself and all the resources he can find to train You-hsuan. If he manages to help You-hsuan qualify for the Olympic Games, he will have realized his dream of bringing Taiwan's modern pentathlon team onto the international stage. But everything, including time, funding, the system and the wayward adolescent, all seems to be going against his wishes.

But LIN never expected that this would be just the beginning of the cruelest and toughest challenge he has ever faced.

Synaptic pruning and adulthood lead to the loss of imagination in us. Elsewhere in the universe, this is a coveted asset. Highly evolved aliens want this treasure and they have a secret plan to rob humans of their imagination. They need to do this because despite becoming a greatly efficient society, they have become a monolithic system lacking diversity to the point of peril.

It's 2030 — brainwaves are decoded and regulated through a worldwide network — NEU-LIFE. Smartphones have been replaced by this neural link. Robert's new product — NEU-PLAYER — is a project where toys come alive in your mind. But it is still a mere prototype. Bugs in it cause the overload of fun imagination which leads to the deletion of memories.

With his pesky little brother Charles, and quirky new friends, Robert crosses path with the secret alien invasion. He has to defend Earth in the realm of perception and imagination!

Four migrant workers live in one basement while waiting to be transferred. They each have different backgrounds and reasons why they have no choice but to work in Taiwan. One is Yanni, a 42-year-old Indonesian mother; another is the handsome 23-year-old Homer, also from Indonesia; and the other two are 25-year-old Jinxiong and the pretty 22-year-old Sile, both from Vietnam.

The four don't really know each other and were put there temporarily by an intermediary. The two young guys quickly start vying for Sile's attention, and in an ensuing conflict, Jinxiong accidentally and seriously injures Homer. Yanni and Sile quickly stop Jinxiong and tie him to a chair.

After calming down, a repentant Jinxiong wants to call an ambulance to save Homer, but Yanni and Sile refuse because they are runaway workers who will do anything to ensure they can keep working in Taiwan for the sake of their families. Who will make it out of the basement in the end?

After winning four Majors, 15 LPGA titles and spending 109 weeks ranked number one in the world, Yani TSENG has failed to win a title since 2013 and slid to number 650 in the rankings. The "Smiling Queen of Golf" has lost her trademark smile, as well as the drive and passion in her swings. Taking a full year off from competing, she sets out on a journey of self-discovery, relocating to San Diego in an attempt to reconnect with herself. She revisits Sunrise Golf Club, a golf academy where she spent six of her teenage years. She takes on a new mental training regimen and begins a process to confront her past through dialogue with her mental coaches, trainers, her father, and most importantly, herself. "I have to be okay with not getting back to No. 1," she realizes. With years of trials and tribulations and this new understanding, she embarks on a comeback trail in 2021 — against the familiar landscape of manipulated terrains, man-made bunkers and greens, societal pressures and values organized on patriarchal lines — with a natural grace and restored hope.

On September 21, 1999, Taiwan's Nantou County suffered a strong magnitude 7.3 earthquake in the early morning, causing numerous houses and buildings to collapse. Thousands of people were killed or injured. The state spared no effort to provide relief in the disaster areas. The incident also shocked the world. As many as 83 countries expressed their condolences to Taiwan, and 20 countries sent 38 emergency search and rescue teams to support Nantou. The Russian rescue team member Jima rescued eight-year-old girl Yi-ching, whose parents died in the earthquake, and sponsored her studies all the way up to university. After growing up, Yi-ching began to understand everything Jima has done for her and they start a moving relationship.

Brave Animated Series

勇者動畫系列

An adaption of the Taiwanese comic series, the Brave Series. The comic artist of this series uses black humor to elaborate on social issues, and its storytelling is very aligned with the taste of the younger generation. This program is integrated with multiple resources like TV and music production. In a world full of discrimination and hatred, a stereotype is no longer what it really is. The Braves believe that only when evil is defeated will the world come with peace. Yet the Braves come to realize that they might not be standing on the side of justice.

The Haunted Heart

Wei Xiao-ling is a game tester for a cutting-edge gaming company. She can also see ghosts. This ability brings her much grief. For example, she accidentally kills her boss, Shi Da-yong. A ghost from the Qing dynasty claims he can help Xiao-ling solve her problem. Under his instruction, she partners up with Shi Da-yong, now in the spirit form, to retrieve his "dying thought". They only have 49 days to restore his soul back to his body before it rots away. Meanwhile, Xiao-ling also confides in psychologist Ho Ching-fung to diagnose and "cure" her from her condition. Part of Xiao-ling believes all these supernatural experiences are just illusions; there aren't any ghosts and it's just a cognitive malfunction. Xiao-ling's ghost-seeing ability means she has extremely strong brainwaves, which makes her able to test Da-yong's secret brainwave game. She is the tester Da-yong has been trying to find for a long time. She finds herself torn between falling for Ching-fung's calm and gentle touch and Da-yong's bold and fearless resolve. Navigating the fine line between trust and betrayal, Xiao-ling eventually finds love and acceptance in the most unexpected of places.

The Chapel of Kung-Tung: An Education Legend in the Coastal Range of Taiwan

Swiss priest Fr. Hilber devoted his life to Taitung, focusing on improving the life of indigenous peoples. Until he was diagnosed with cancer in his later years, he still decided to "come" back to Taitung and die in Taiwan. The Paiwan people buried him in the honor of the chief. Fr. Hilber is strict and meticulous yet genuine and passionate. Representing the priest of the Catholic Bethlehem Mission Society (SMB) from Switzerland truly believed only education improves children's future. He had wanted to teach the kids Swiss watch-making, but Taiwan's climate made it impractical. After he dug deeper to understand the culture of Paiwan people. He noticed the supreme quality of the woods and decided to raise funds and recruit the best carpenters from Europe. He introduced the apprenticeship system to the children and established a systematic working process that is recognized internationally. They made exquisite furniture that is famous around the world. These unique "Children of Kung Tung" were sheltered by Fr. Hilber throughout generations. The Brutalist Church of Kung-Tung is the witness of this hero's legend that shall never fade away.

Finally, eight award-winning and renowned filmmakers were invited to direct the TV shows. The eight shows that were produced during the first round of the Q series project in 2016 received nine of Taiwan's prestigious Golden Bell Awards, including two awards for Best Television Series. Now, the second iteration of Q series is underway, once again training a new team of aspiring actors and bringing in major directors to create a collection of eight television shows, all adapted from stories written by Taiwanese authors. With a mind to promote a diversity of local Taiwanese voices, the television shows will center on four coupled story genres: Horror & Supernatural, Mystery & Suspense, Love & Coming Age, and Historical & Biographical. Aiming to preserve and represent Taiwan's unique culture and history through this pioneering creative project, the Q series is set to launch a television renaissance — a tender revolution.

He later realized that if he could excel in acting out his misery, others would be prone to assist and sympathize. Reincarnation

Your present life is the result of the past life. Your next life will be a consequence of this life. Causes and effect is an infinite loop, a contrast of yin and yang. All actions and behaviors leave traces. Even if you can avoid it in this life, you will pay the price in the next. This is an eternal, unchanging truth. What power controls the cycle of cause and effect? Life comes with original sin, love, pain, failure and fulfillment. Where do these causes and effects come from? Cause and effect is a secret code you carry from birth, in a life that comes with all kinds of shackles. Like those souls stuck in the six realms of reincarnation, repeating the same fate over and over again. Sins owed in the previous life must be repaid in this life. If not, then the road shall continue, again and again for all of eternity.

Alone

This program depicts empty nest families — elderly couples who have only each other, dealing with loneliness, the helplessness and fear of being alone, and dementia patients who long for care and company, while also highlighting the hard work of carers and nurses. It is hoped that the program can make the younger generation reflect on and pay attention to family values, encouraging them to return home more often to see their elderly parents and reminding them of the spirit of traditional filial piety.

This program aims to build up T-pop with five main elements: buzz creating, reporting, music production, song histories, and singing. The show will cover everything that's been happening in T-pop over the year, with a second live section in which professional songwriters and singers will create a new song in accordance with the theme of the episode in under 90 minutes. Twelve singers will be invited to sing these new songs in the show's finale. Through new media platforms, we hope to promote the abundant energy and rich creativity of Taiwanese artists to the world.

Aqua Challenge

Second only to base jumping, free diving is one of the most dangerous sports in the world. Every dive is a personal risk, a mental and physical challenge. Underwater photographers combine their diving expertise with the additional challenge of photography in an unforgiving environment. Light is limited, the water conditions can change on a dime and be life threatening, and the subject matter (model or sea life), may not always be cooperative. Aqua Challenge is the first ever reality show that puts these two groups together, pitting them against one another, for the final prize and, of course, bragging rights. Completely filmed in the tropical waters around Taiwan, every episode of this competition uses different themes and competitors will be matched with different underwater partners. With elimination determined by judges and online votes, only one photographer and one free diver will survive the test and prove that they are the best of the best.
