SYNOPSIS

On New Year's Eve, a female corpse washed up on the shore stops WU-jie, the police officer, when she is ready to kill herself. What looks like an accident is proved to be a dead migrant worker without her heart and a finger. It is obviously a murder. However, they can't get any more clues from the dead body. In the meantime, the police get an anonymous call, which complicates the case. WU-jie concludes that whoever abandoned the body isn't the killer.

LIN You-sheng is in trouble because a female dead body has been found in a factory. To avoid the police, he buries the body in the mountains by himself. In the meantime, his girlfriend, Waree, has lost touch. WU finds LIN and asks him to identify a body that turns out to be Waree. LIN is seen as the prime suspect of the serial murders.

On the night of their high school graduation, three juvenile delinquents find themselves getting drunk at their regular hangout, throwing beer bottles and enjoying the abuse hurled at them by nearby residents. But for these young men about to enter a new chapter of life, this little bit of chaos is nowhere near enough to farewell their dying youth. Before dawn, they decide to share their deepest, darkest secret with one another. After all, only true "bros" are qualified to know their most unspeakable deed. The first secret is shocking. The second secret is terrifying. The third secret is... Wait! Didn't we agree to a fair exchange? This third secret doesn't qualify! Unless you want us to kill you, you must do something terrible enough so that we also know an equally unspeakable secret about you. Right now! Tonight!"

SYNOPSIS

In the murky half-light, race pigeon 043 has finally returned after seven years. 043 wasn't the only one that went missing seven years ago; the other was their son, Shih, whose disappearance remains the irreparable wound in Pigeon Master Ching's heart. The family's barely-maintained peace is shattered by 043's return, as Ching's daughter, Lulu, brings a beaten-up boy named Tig back home. Breeding pigeons with his son was Ching's biggest wish. But wild pigeons can't change their ways. Lulu leaves abruptly and never comes back. Ching's wife, Ming, is also tempted to leave. Thunder booms vaguely afar; a typhoon emerges on the horizon. Grandpa's death is the last straw that breaks this family's back. In the aftershock of the storm, what course should the wounded follow?

SYNOPSIS
The tribal village gets misty in September, letting out an atmosphere as intriguing as Hayung's family in this autumn-winter season. After Hayung's homeland was occupied, one 80-year-old man devoted his whole life to worshipping GAGA. The traditions were forgotten by his descendants after his passing. Hayung's family represented indigenous families in Taiwan. Each tribe represents a withering big family. The eldest son Pasang joins in the election campaign, neglecting the opposition from his family. The second son, who is a farmer, is thus affected. After the election campaign, the entire family is on the verge of falling apart, and the village witnesses the snow for the first time in a very long time. With snow melting, new lives emerge. The broken family starts mending and repairing.

2022 136 min

#BIOGRAPHY
#NON-FICTION

Salute is a feature length film that combines fiction, experimental and documentary elements and breaks the frame of film genres that most people think of. Four particular periods in the dance career of world-famous Taiwanese monde dancer, SHEU Fang-yi, are highlighted to depict her dance journey. In some way this film can be considered as autobiography, yet it is definitely not a documentary since the whole production is produced in a fictional manner. What's different from other film productions, the main idea of production for this film is the parallel creation that is formed by the director and the dancer. The script and the extended production details were developed and executed after the director started shooting. The film was finally presented with two story lines. The timeline jumps between fiction and non-fiction, illusion and mundane, leading the audience to wander through reality and poetic dreams, calmness, and restlessness. One documents the dancer's banality and the process of choreographing, and how she uses modern dance to tell stories and traces her dance career, so as to track the origin of her thoughts. Followed by the dancer's choreography, the other presents the transformed dance dramas that are filmed with poetic cinema language.

SYNOPSIS

Would you still be willing to try if you have a dream that no one thinks you can achieve? This documentary records Taiwanese Extra Actors of different gender, generation and background. For them, the support from their family is the biggest strength and may also be a hindrance. Before touching on the goal and clarifying their own predicament, they are still running around in the industry, struggling with the balance of reality and ideals. Through their journeys, we see their struggle and challenges under cultural differences, the strength of people and the difficulty for women in the industry, but they keep moving forward. Director WU Hsin-yu spent six years recording the journey of these extra actors with a humorous and relaxing rhythm.

SU Ping-kun, a name definitely mentioned in the judicial textbook in Taiwan, is the one being wronged in modern Taiwan history. He was associated with a robbery he was not involved at all, got through torturing for confession, passed the period of Martial Law, entered the paradise of liberal democracy, and enjoyed the happiness of the presidential pardon and hope for party alteration. No matter how the world had changed, what he and his family cared about the most is his innocence. The road is so long that it seems endless. When we have breathed the air of freedom, they still struggle to prove their innocence.

SYNOPSIS

Poet WU Sheng writes in a style that is down-to-earth and filled with a natural energy. As an intellectual who had returned to teach in his hometown, he saw how industrialization and urbanization continued to encroach on agriculture, farmers and rural villages, and bore witness to the life of rice farmers and his mother. His writing is infused with insights on life and a self-identity tinged with nostalgia for times past, reminding his readers to care about the land with which they coexist. The film shows the emotion that flows between the writer and his family and friends, together with the visual language employed, presents WU Sheng as a warm and three-dimensional figure, achieving a rare work that closely links a writer's literary beliefs with his life events.

SYNOPSIS

Dr. LEE Chia-yen's clinic is closed in the afternoons since these slots are reserved for the worried parents who bring their children to see her. Dr. LEE spends the whole afternoon talking and listening to them. In her eyes, these children are precious and unique lives. She cannot understand why their teachers and the psychiatrists regard them as "patients" who suffer from ADHD and have to take medicine. Dr. LEE opposes making a diagnosis and prescribing medicine without proper consideration. She advocates that the parents, the educators and the child psychiatrists should spend more time trying to understand what children really need in order to find the roots of the problems. As a result, Dr. LEE is often seen as an eccentric doctor, who is against psychiatry and questions the education system.

SYNOPSIS

"Hiin Studio" was founded by a couple who started cleaning up the beaches to protect the turtles. Jen-ping is an expert in convincing people to protect the environment and KUO Fu is specialized in developing a system that makes protecting the environment fun, allowing the tourists to enjoy their holiday and reduce plastic use at the same time. Together with a group of passionate comrades, they raise the environmental awareness in Xiaoliuqi and clean up the sea for the turtles' return, witnessing the rebirth of the island. On the southwest coast of Taiwan, a huge number of polystyrene blocks are used in oyster farming. After the harvest, the blocks are discarded; floating at sea, they result in an environmental disaster. Therefore, the Hiin Studio decided to wage war on polystyrene.

SYNOPSIS

Under a sweet osmanthus tree lived an ordinary family, and in their house was a cache of correspondences between the father, novelist CHU Hsi-ning, and the mother, translator LIU Mu-sha. Not quite love letters, these correspondences speak of great ambitions through words such as "literature alone must not be ordinary". The CHU family's three daughters compare and connect their parents' works with childhood memories, reading aloud the letters from their youth, as though from the story of a thousand and one nights, searching through and overturning boxes and chests for the origins of the family's memories, unleashing a current of faded times. Unfulfilled Dreams is the directorial debut of the eldest of the CHU daughters, CHU T'ien-wen. The husband and wife lived a simple life, but always held on to the belief that literature must not be ordinary, a belief that is still faithfully pursued by their daughters with pen and paper.

SYNOPSIS

Let's travel back in time and watch the story about a diplomat. In the valley with beautiful butterflies fluttering around, children could capture as many butterflies as they wanted. By turning these butterflies into beautiful paintings, people made large sums of money. When the diplomat retired and came back to Taiwan, she noticed the butterfly valley, the beautiful scenery from her childhood memory, was gone. Feeling at a loss, she transformed into a fluttering butterfly and flew towards the valley to restore that beautiful scenery in the past.

SYNOPSIS

"Hakka people use "not having enough salt" to describe a physically weak person. In traditional Hakka culture, salt is the source of energy. In the early days, people engaged in heavy labor; to quickly gain energy, they needed to eat more salt. With time passing, salt has become a symbol of a person's strength and courage in Hakka culture.

The film uses "the practice of magic" as the main theme and cleverly depicts the process of making preserved radish, Suan-cai, Fu-cai, dried pickled mustard green, and pickled pork, in an attempt to show the Hakka pickling culture."

SYNOPSIS

It is a story about "company." Aging society is a global trend. Dementia among old people is an issue that people must deal with now. The old man in the film imitates rooster crowing while looking at the rooster in the photo to reminisce his old days working as a farmer. The end of the film shows the child and father accompanying the grandfather to the rooftop to imitate rooster crowing as the sun rises.

The three people watch the bustling city streets together. Because of the rooster crowing sound, the demented grandfather can finally feel the company and understanding of his family, and his life is filled with vigor on a busy morning in the city.

SYNOPSIS

Chiang, a highway maintenance worker, can sense messages from the trees. Growing up with his grandfather, Wan, a former woodsman, Chiang has a strong bond with nature. Recently, Chiang has seen an increasing number of animal carcasses on the roads that seems like a mass suicide. When he tells his grandfather, now in a dementia care home, Wan offers a warning of a disappearing tree spirit. Chiang starts having recurring dreams of being lost in the mountains until he's rescued by an ancient tree.

When Wan tries to escape the care home, Chiang takes him and an injured eagle into the mountains to seek the spirit. There, he meets Li, a woman returning to her indigenous roots after the death of her estranged mother. Li follows them deeper into the forests where they discover signs of illegal logging. Chiang and Li grow closer together. As Chiang becomes more absorbed by the forest, his sense of reality begins to blur. In his dream state, Chiang sees the spirit manifested through dance, just like the legend Li told him. Led by the eagle, they discover the activities of illegal loggers and Chiang must face a choice between nature and his own life.

SYNOPSIS

Song, who has been away from home for more than a decade. Her hometown is a small town surrounded by mountains and the sea, and the nearest supermarket is an hour's drive away. Song, who used to have take-out food three meals a day, starts a self-cooking and healing life in the countryside. With the aging population in the countryside, the elderly farmer neighbors often request Song to help with farming. By doing the farming work, cooking, and tidying up her mother's deserted vegetable garden, the memories of Song's deceased mother overwhelm Song. Song gradually learns more about who she is on beautiful days in the countryside. Song realizes that nothing is more concrete than touching the land with your own hands, having sincere conversations with the neighbors, and cooking the food you grow in the garden. She hasn't decided if she will stay in the city or in the countryside permanently, but she now has regained the energy to face the challenges again.

SYNOPSIS

In her early 30s, Summer lives alone, jobless, with little material wants. Her only passion is dancing. To be more specific, ballroom dancing. Under the tutelage of the legendary gay dancer Donny, Summer embarks on a journey of self-discovery and, perhaps more importantly, the search for the perfect partner.

Her hopes are dashed again and again as she witnesses the colorful characters in the ballroom: the arrogant youngster Youlin from a dancing dynasty; the talented Grace who wants nothing but an ordinary life; and the petite Meixin, forever at war with her fiance/partner.

As Summer continues her pursuit of Mr. Right, she is forced to confront the dark memories of her past-the slut-shaming from her control-freak mother, the attempted suicide of her cousin, and the painful humiliation of sex with a classmate. She dreams of the perfect dancing body, yet dreads her own sexuality.

Mermaid's Tale is itself like a beautiful solo dance exploring the female body like The Vegetarian and the lonely obsession of dancing and dream-achieving like Frances Ha.

SYNOPSIS

The alien life form "Planet Refugee X" who fled to the earth due to conflicts caused by the parent star was accepted by the United States. X is a creature that can reproduce individual human beings. Following the United States, Japan has passed relevant laws and regulations, and accepted X appearing in the form of a Japanese. The media reports on topics related to X every day.

Among the positive and negative opinions, many people feel that they are against X. In addition, there are many people who, without publicly declaring it, have the idea of rejecting X or wanting to eliminate X. However, as in the United States, the topic that X should have come to Japan keeps coming up. Kentaro SASA is a reporter for a weekly magazine. Who is X in Japan? He tries hard to uncover the secrets.

SYNOPSIS

Set in 1994, in the midst of student protests, Who'll Stop the Rain cuts to the heart of a Taiwan still adjusting to its post-martial law reality. Wei, a freshman studying Fine Art, joins the student strike of her department demanding the right to freedom of expression. But the student campaign is opposed by a power-hungry Head of Department and a university insistent on obedience above all else. Determined Wei, quickly rises through the campaign committee, led by the charismatic Guang and enigmatic Qing. As passionate protest inflamed personal desires, a chemistry formed between Wei and Qing. But as the strike hits a stalemate and Guang also shows a romantic interest in Wei, she begins to realize that the fight for creative freedom is really a journey to discover herself and who she loves.

SYNOPSIS

Swiss priest Fr. Hilber devoted his life to Taitung, focusing on improving BOTH the spiritual and material life of indigenous peoples. He founded Kung-Tung Technical Senior High School as well as the chapel on one of the buildings. He brought the best European wooden technicians to be lecturers for the students and successfully breed a great generation of furniture masters. At the same time, the chapel was selected as the 30 important modernist architectures by WMF (WORLD MONUMENTS FUND) in 2017. While the reconstruction plan kicked up this July, we will revisit the building and dig out the meaning of the chapel as well as priest Fr. Hiber in the local society of Taitung and the school he founded.

SYNOPSIS

Chua, a middle-aged man does not seem to have much of a connection with anyone, his occupation taking him amongst the deserted spaces of steel and concrete in contemporary Singapore. A quiet, solitary man by nature, the long hours meld into an endless cycle of night and day. The only relationship he seems to have is with his teenage son, Meng, to whom he returns home to everyday. Hiding his failings from Meng, a deeply sensitive boy, he keeps his troubles to himself. Meng, left to his own devices, seeks to find his place in the same spaces that his father inhabits. In the dense, confined spaces of the city and stifling societal forces, the relationship between father and son grows estranged and slowly becomes unbearable. In a desperate bid to free themselves from this vicious cycle, Chua sets a path to change the course of their destiny.

Taiwan Creative Content Agency ( TAICCA )

Taiwan Creative Content Agency (TAICCA), established in June 2019 and supported by the Ministry of Culture, is a professional intermediary organization that promotes the development of Taiwan's content industries. TAICCA supports various cultural content industries in Taiwan, including film and television, pop music, publishing, ACG, and fashion, artworks, and cultural technologies. With advanced information and communication infrastructure and emerging technologies in Taiwan, such as 5G and AI, TAICCA manages the National Development Fund to develop intellectual property (IP), incubate culture technologies, and facilitate startups. Through international distribution channels, TAICCA strives to promote Taiwan's creative economy and cultural brand in the world.
