It has been almost a week since mother left home. The ten-year-old girl Jia-jia and her seven-year-old brother Kai try to follow Mother's daily routines while waiting for her to come back. Father's work is busy as usual. The grown-up world stays on its everyday orbit. Jia-jia tries to maintain the usual daily lives with Kai, but it has not been easy for her. Though tiptoeing, trying so hard to keep mother's routines, the strangeness and clumsiness in the air keep reminding her of the fact that mother is absent. Just like the over-long fringe that accidentally got into her eyes.

Director HUANG Chao-liang

Screening Time / Feb. 12 16:10 CinemaxX14

On the Mid Lantern festival, Jan. 15th in Lunar calendar, 1996, LIN Jen-kuen watched A-yi playing as the "body" of Lord Han Dan on the sedan chair while people throw firecrackers at his naked bodies. All of the sudden, the firecrackers aside started to burn causing a serious accident. A-yi's girlfriend Xuan-xuan died in the accident, and he lost 4 fingers and turned deaf after the accident.

Low self-esteem swallowed A-yi and made him a drug addict. On the other side, LIN Jen-kuen gave up the opportunity becoming a teacher and instead he chose to help A-yi to get back his life to the right track. When they thought everything will be better with the help for each other, the truth revealed: LIN Jen-kuen is the one who caused that accident.

On the Mid Lantern festival, Jan.15th in Lunar calendar, 2002, LIN Jen-kuen stood on the sedan chair receiving the burn from firecrackers, Is it a prayer? Redemption of vow? Or a sort of atonement? These two young men with lonely souls gave out whatever they got, and the greatest hope for them is a peaceful mind through redemption. Will the cruel reality end up pushing them into misery?

It is said that a person will fear nothing after experiencing three "temporary disconnects" in life. What is a "temporary disconnect"? Is it a feeling? Or is it a kind of contradiction? Is it a matter of standard presumption vs choice? Or is it the awkwardness of puberty? Or crossing over from youth to old age? All of these guesses are tenable.

Burning Crows is about a middle-aged man named RD, whose fiancé Xin-jie — a woman he has lived with for the past 7 years — suffers a sudden and unexpected occupational injury. Though no lives are lost, the injury plunges both RD and Xin-jie into a state of being "more dead than alive". This story takes place over these 100 more-dead-than-alive days.

LI Hui-zhen, who is a public defense counsel at a court, takes over a murder case involving teenagers which had been dropped by the famous lawyer WANG Guo-chao. Because of LI's background in court system, she cannot win the trust of defendant Ah-cheng. In addition, the existing evidence is unfavorable to Ah-cheng, and presiding Judge SHIH hopes to resolve this case satisfactorily before his retirement. Seeing that the courtroom procedures are merely formalities, it seems as if Ah-cheng will certainly be found guilty. However, grandmother firmly believes that even if her grandson Ah-cheng was involved in the case, he is not the main wrongdoer, and frantically seeks leniency.

Hui-zhen, who has a son of her own, is moved by grandmother, and decides to seek help from former criminal policeman Judge SHIH in investigating and gaining a new understanding of the case. However, with everyone's testimony, the material evidence, and the judge's opinion going against her, how can Hui-zhen deal with and reverse her weak position?

With only two employees left, how will Crazy TV broadcast programs nonstop? News programs are broadcast by following other news channels. Children's programs are prolonged by call-ins. Fashion programs are live broadcast on the sidewalk by making comments on the passersby. "Late Night Lullaby Show" is repeated over and over again by having the commentators make comments on the news clips 30 years ago in order to help the audience get into sleep. During the most boring live talk show, a robber suddenly breaks in, holding up the studio, which catches nationwide attention. How will Crazy TV raise audience rating and click through rate (CTR) so that the sunset industry can shine again?

A small village, Xiongtuo, situated in the Tibetan remote region in Sichuan, China. By word of mouth, there is a "boiling-water Lama" resides at the village. The Lama lives in a wooden house built by followers, which is in a mountainous area around 5,000 meters high. Every day, countless people from the major Tibetan regions travel across the mountains to visit him in order to seek for the answer for their own lives. They consult with him regarding the questions, such as "Where did my deceased relatives go?" "What is the cause of my headache?" "What should I do if my son is sent to jail?" "Is it still possible for me to remarry my ex-wife?" Meanwhile, the water on the stove was boiled, and the believers wait outside taking off their shirts one by one, ready to get the unique "answer" from the Lama...

Spell Master is an Asian sorcery profession which is difficult to learn and nearly impossible to master.

For centuries, Taiwanese temples in Penghu Islands pass on the skills of the ancient spells known as "Shao-fa." Is Shao-fa just a superstition? How do children in the age of 6-7 years old begin to learn the ancient spells? Why it needs more than ten years to master the skill? It is said that no one can completely understand Shao-fa. It's also impossible to learn Shao-fa in its entirety. And now, it is gradually being forgotten.

Late Life : The Chien-ming Wang Story

Director Frank W. CHEN

WANG Chien-ming was a supernova in Taiwan. His success as the Ace of the New York Yankees rocketed him into a cult-like status on the island nation. His face was so ubiquitous and his impact so meaningful, that he was donned the title of "Pride of Taiwan" - a national honor he was never fully comfortable with. WANG, a man of quiet, humble disposition, never sought out the attention. All he wanted to do was play.

We find Chien-ming now at age 35, bouncing around the Independent and Minor Leagues, a fallen icon. The film delves into his comeback attempts, his life between endless rehab programs, his lengthy and often lonely stints away from home and family, and the inner struggles and weight he carries on his injured shoulders. We follow him as he works towards a singular goal: to fight his way back into the Major Leagues.

How much dedication and persistence does it take to realize a dream? How much courage does it take to make it back to the mound? Late Life: The Chien-Ming Wang Story tracks an extraordinary journey of an ordinary man, of someone who fell from the top and is willing to fight his way back up again.

A truck drives into a square and a moveable tent is set up. Audience members enter and hear the faint voices from the cracks in society. As the tent becomes a convergence of the thoughts of those both on stage and off, we feel the power of resistance that the entire action entails. Tent theater is theater occurring in a temporary tent. It originated out of experimental theater in post-war Japan in the 60's. "It aims to bring those voices and memories that have been relegated to the bottom of the society into the tents." Functioning both as observer and participant, the director documents the tent's movements around Taiwan in the past decade.

Our Youth in Taiwan

Director FU Yue

Stories of bidding farewell to one's youth and growing up are commonplace. The dream shared by the protagonists in the film is to build a better country by rebelling against the establishment. However, their fight becomes part of history in the turbulent relations between Taiwan and China.

A Taiwanese student movement star, who fights against China; a celebrity Chinese student, who loves Taiwan; and I, a Taiwanese documentary filmmaker passionate about politics. Clashes should come between us, but we find the possibility of collaborating with each other in the social movements. After the biggest social movement in Taiwan in the past 24 years had taken place, we came close to realize our goals but gradually we were let down again. Is it still possible for us to continue fighting for the ideals we had been pursuing?

3 Years on: The Inspiring Stories of Taiwan's Fire Explosion Survivors

At the "Color Play Asia" event on June 27, 2015, colored dust at a water park caught fire, sparking an explosion that left 508 injured, 199 in critical condition. The explosion is not only a news event or a public security accident, but also a life of the 500 people.

Wanderland records the three-year physical and mental recovery of the third-degree burns survivors, and their willpower to recover. Through the poetic and sensitive points of view, the documentary records 4 dialogues of the wounded and their times in the darkness. While outward optimism was "courage out of necessity," a survivor said "It was a difficult path. I hope our experience would give courage to other victims."

As I searched the streets of Taipei for faces to film, some verses began to appear in my mind.

I wrote them down:
There is some light, there is a story.
Your face tells of the passage of time and places you have journeyed.
In your eyes, there is a tinge of confusion and sadness.
There is some light, there is a story.
Your face tells of love and the places it hides in.
In your eyes, there is a sparkle and some darkness.
This is the meaning of the film.

A novelist past her prime, FANG Yuan-yi accidentally discovers a manuscript at her publisher's office and recognizes her own signature style in the writing as well as its superior talent. Alarmed by this, she steals the work and is determined to find the copycat intending on replacing her. She arrives at an apartment and is greeted by WANG Jen-yu, a young wheelchair bound polio survivor. He turns out to be her fan and is pleasantly surprised by her visit.

She leverages this fact to ask him to be her ghost writer, hoping he would help her to regain her former glory for profit. But the twist comes when he sets out his one condition: that she must make love to him. If she can satisfy his every desire, then he would in turn help her achieve her desired come back. She reluctantly agrees to the sexual encounter, exchanging her worn out body for a long lost talent. In a month's time, she returns to Jen-yu's apartment and discovers that the deal was more than she had bargained for.

Jing-zi was a cocooned home-stayer. Because of an accident happened three years ago, she'd been blaming herself deeply for someone. Xian-xian always hated it when people called her "cutie". She didn't reveal her true emotions and seemed to have no real "friend". A-jie was a lonely swordsman with a level cap in the online game, who could never vent the hatred for his father, supervisor, and colleagues...those bossed around him. Internet was his only refuge. In there, he could talk without looking to other's eye.

Until one day, they were all involved in something similar to that three years ago. The three seemingly irrelevant became to find something related...

In mid-Ming dynasty, the loyal and upright Minister of Defense, YU Qian, has been executed by the emperor's chief eunuch, CAO Shao-qin, a formidable martial arts master. YU's children have been sentenced to exile from China, but as they travel toward the empire's western border, CAO dispatches two of his top agents from the secret police to kill them. Having reached Dragon Inn, located in the desolate lands near the border, the agents and their henchmen prepare an ambush.

Meanwhile, wandering swordsman XIAO Shao-zi has also found his way to the Inn, followed by two other young swordsmen, the ZHU brothers. Suspecting the three were plotting to rescue YU's children, the agents trick the newcomers into a fight in the dark of the night. With the help of innkeeper WU Ning, formerly one of Minister YU's men, the trio launch a heroic rescue mission to stop the agents, save the children, and kill CAO.

Set in a remote Buddhist monastery in 16th Century China, Raining in the Mountain deals with a power struggle that ensues when the Abbot of the Three Treasures Temple announces his imminent retirement. The aging Abbot invites three outsiders to advise him on the critical choice of appointing his successor: Esquire WEN, a wealthy patron of the monastery, General WANG, commander-in-chief of the local military, and WU Wai, a respected lay Buddhist master. Within the monastery, several disciples aspiring to the position begin to collude individually with Esquire WEN and General WANG. But these two invited advisers have come with seditious intent, scheming to obtain the priceless scroll housed in the monastery: the scriptural text of "The Mahayana Sutra," hand-copied by Tripitaka. Meanwhile, convicted criminal CHIU Ming has arrived at the monastery to atone as a monk. He is assigned to safeguard the scroll at the house of scriptures, and encounters thieving rivals White Fox who poses as Esquire WEN's concubine and General WANG's fearsome Lieutenant CHANG, who originally framed CHIU Ming for the crime he did not commit.

The film narrates the political history of Taiwan over a period of 50 years, following the imposition of martial law in 1947 and the "White Terror" period in 1950s. As a student, KO was arrested by the police for attending a clandestine political study group. In captivity, he unintentionally betrayed his good friend CHEN Cheng-i by revealing his name, thus causing his friend's eventual execution. Now, 30 years later, KO wants to find this friend's grave and apologize. This quest for forgiveness leads him on an exploration of the new, modernized Taiwan, where the traces of its traumatic past are obliterated by capitalist landscape. This film depicts KO's mental state with moody and lyrical cinematography as he wanders back and forth between memory and reality, delving into the motifs of introspection and redemption with a poetic sense of loss and melancholy.

From a miracle encounter at the beach, he met his mermaid: Shao-lan. Since then, his life has completely changed. He was so anxious to share with the author of the book about the mermaid he met. However, the author does not care a thing about Wei, but willing to get some benefits, so he decides to cover the fact that Lan is actually a prostitute, who needs money and help.

Shao-wei is blind about this fact, for he is in love, dumb like everyone else. He sends Lan flowers, reads stories to her, and even takes her home. After knowing the real Lan, Wei's mother forbids them from seeing each other. In a morning, Wei sees Lan smiles and waves by the sea. And then she disappears, just like the mermaid at the end of his favorite book... "Is she real?" asked by Wei.

There remains only silence in the "Green Jail" in Iriomote Island, Okinawa, Japan. Before World War II, "Green Jail" was a large-scale mining village under Greater East Asia Imperialism which imprisoned thousands of miners, who were from Kyushu, Japanese colonies Taiwan and Korea and other places of Japan. Most of them died from malaria or were forced to work there. As for "Taiwanese miners", the morphine injection was prevalent so that they could work nonstop day and night.

Grandma HASHIMA is the daughter of the head of colonial Taiwanese miners YANG Tien-fu, who experienced the coal mine days in Okinawa. She's already 92 years old, living alone in an old shaggy wooden house where her family lived, near the "jail on the sea" with the tomb of her parents. Nearly no one visits her. What has happened in the coal mine? Grandma's adoptive father, who recruited hundreds of Taiwanese miners to "Green Jail", making them unable to get back to Taiwan and leave the jail... Was he an assaulter or a victim of Japanese Imperialism?

This film portrays the last years of Grandma HASHIMA's life, with her memory of crime, pain, anger and the miserable history throughout 80 years.

Sheng, a 17-year-old high school student, acquires a notebook written by a Japanese navy sailor 70 years ago by chance. Out of curiosity, he starts to look for the missing submarine "Kairyu Kai" noted in the notebook. During the quest, he asks for the help from several classmates: Mei, a girl who knows Japanese; Bin, a straight-A student; Lai, a boy majoring in vehicle maintenance. Once "Kairyu Kai" is located, these four students collaborate with each other to activate this old submarine. They fix the original mechanical flaws of the submarine, and then rename it to "Kairyu Kai Kai".

Aside from searching and repairing "Kairyu Kai Kai", Sheng encounters several problems: Grandpa's personal security when taking part in the social movement, his father who seldom concerns for him since the divorce, the conflict between Mei and Lai, and an uncertain future due to his poor school performance. As the days progressed, Sheng uses the submarine to assist Grandpa defending their hometown, and he also comes to realize that it is such a wonderful thing to have something to defend for.

Expected Completion Term May 2019	Producer Rachel CHEN	Cast Fandy FAN, Berant ZHU, TUAN Chun-hao, David WU

Two brothers who have nothing but each other are discovered by a high school basketball coach during a streetball game that ends up going viral.

The younger brother is then invited to join a powerhouse team, where he is valued by the coach and morphs from a shy teen in his big brother's shadow into a shining star. The older brother accepts the invitation of another team, and goes from struggling to adapt to eventually accepting and embracing his coach and teammates; the team's impending disbandment brings them even closer together.

A year later, the brothers reunite in the HBL championship game — as opponents on opposite ends of the court. On the HBL's biggest stage, each brother must defeat the other before him for the sake of his team and ultimate basketball glory. In the end, both brothers come to the realization that there are more important things than winning, and that only by rekindling everything that had been lost between them will they know what it truly means to be a champion.

APPENDIX

Filming in Taiwan Film Festivals in Taiwan

Filming in Taiwan

Introduction

Straddling the Tropic of Cancer, Taiwan is blessed with a rich variety of climatic zones, landforms, and flora and fauna. Its transportation infrastructure is well-developed and it offers a friendly environment for foreign filmmakers. Film content is not subject to governmental regulations or censoring, and filmmaking can be done without need of government approval. Well-known directors who have come to Taiwan for shooting their films, include, for example, Ang LEE (Life of Pi, 2012), Luc BESSON (Lucy, 2014) and Martin SCORSESE (Silence, 2016). Motion picture enterprises interested in doing so are advised to seek the assistance of production agents in Taiwan.

Must-Know Information About Filmmaking in Taiwan

1. Work Permits:

Applications for work permits must be submitted to the Ministry of Labor for foreign film crewmembers who have employment relationships with Taiwan-based investors or organizations or companies involved in the filmmaking project, or who have been invited by them to work on the project. Processing of applications requires 7-10 working days. Work permits are not required for the shooting groups who do not have such relationships.

2. Visas:

- Visa applicants with a work permit: They are required to be issued the permit, which must be submitted along with visa application to an R.O.C Ministry of Foreign Affairs (hereinafter referred to as "MOFA") consular office abroad. Based on the work permit, the consular office will issue an entry visa or a residence visa for the purpose of accepting employment. Upon arrival in Taiwan, such visa holders may then immediately commence work.
- Visa applicants without a work permit: They are required to submit appropriate documentation issued by the employing foreign motion picture production company together with their visa applications to an R.O.C consular office abroad. Applicants whose work requires them to enter and exit Taiwan multiple times, or to reside in Taiwan for more than 6 months, must seek the assistance of the Bureau of Audiovisual and Music Industry Development of the ROC Ministry of Culture (hereinafter referred to as "BAMID"), which will apply to the MOFA for visas on their behalf.

Visa categories and periods of validity are as follows:

- (a) Visa-free Entry: Allows citizens of countries with which Taiwan has a visa-waver agreement to enter and reside in Taiwan for a period of 30-90 days without need of visa application.
 - (b) Entry Visa: Grants residency for a period of 60-180 days.
 - (c) Residence Visa: Grants residency for a period of more than 180 days to applicants who have a work permit with a validity period exceeding 180 days.
 - (d) Multiple-Entry Visa: Issued to applicants whose work requires them to enter and exit Taiwan multiple times.
3. Duty-free customs treatment will be accorded to equipment, costumes, props, etc. which are to be used solely for filming operations and are re-exported within 6 months of importation into Taiwan.

Please also note:

- If the aforesaid items are brought to Taiwan as baggage, the responsible person should complete a declaration form at the airport of departure and, upon arrival in Taiwan, present the original declaration to customs officers in order to be accorded duty-free treatment. Airlines require that large batteries be properly packaged and normally impose a fee for overweight baggage.

- If the aforesaid items are shipped to Taiwan as cargo, then in order to receive duty-free customs treatment at the port of entry, they must be accompanied by a guarantory deposit equal to the value of the items; statement of expected period of use in Taiwan; the applicant's work permit (if applicable); bill of lading; and contact information in Taiwan.

Funding Assistance

To enhance Taiwan's international visibility and stimulate exchange of motion picture-related talents and techniques, BAMID offers funding assistance to internationally well-reputed film directors and film production enterprises interested in undertaking filmmaking projects in Taiwan.

1. Eligibility for Funding:

- Motion picture productions which are produced wholly or partially in Taiwan
- Foreign motion picture production enterprises refer to the production enterprises that are founded in the territories other than Taiwan, mainland China, Hong Kong, and Macau.

2. Funding Coverage: Expenditures incurred in connection with employment of R.O.C citizens for film-shooting operations in Taiwan, and with pre-production and/or post-production operations in Taiwan.

3. Amount of Funding: Up to $NT30 million.

4. Funding Application Procedure: Direct application or application via a Taiwan-based motion picture production company.

5. Application/Funding Flow Process: Submission of application to BAMID > Approval of application > Execution of film-shooting > Submission of original expenditure receipts for approval > Disbursement of funding.

Film-Shooting Assistance Contact

Central and local government agencies welcome foreign film production enterprises to request assistance in selecting and making arrangements for film-shooting locations.

Its professional team provides all round assistance from location scouting, space and equipment hire, post-production and administrative support, helping filmmakers make their dreams reality. A detailed online film location and producer database as well as application forms for production and accommodation subsidies are available on its official website.

Film Festivals in Taiwan

Taipei Golden Horse Film Festival

Taipei Golden Horse Film Festival (TGHFF) is the largest and most influential film event in Taiwan. The TGHFF consists of four main activities, including the Golden Horse Awards competition, Film Festival, Film Project Promotion and Film Academy. The Film Festival not only introduces excellent films from around the world to local audience, but also offers an important showcase of Chinese-language films competing for Golden Horse Awards. The Film Project Promotion helps facilitate cooperation between Chinese-language filmmakers and international industry professionals, whilst the Film Academy aims to nourish and promote young filmmakers' vision. The 56th Golden Horse Film Festival will be held in November, 2019.

Taipei Film Festival

Held in 1998, Taipei Film Festival builds closer relationships with Asian independent filmmakers and film industries through film competitions, screenings, activities, workshops and other forms of cooperation. It is a platform for connecting filmmakers, the film industry and audiences that maintains flexibility for innovation and change. "Taipei Film Awards" is the only film competition exclusively aimed at Taiwanese filmmakers. Every year, the NT$1 million Grand Prize for domestic films attracts Taiwan's most outstanding filmmakers and encourages different themes and stylistic expressions. In 2005, the Festival added the "International New Talent Competition", Taiwan's first international competition focused on narrative feature films, dedicated to introducing new trends in international cinema and inviting contestants to Taiwan for exchanges. From 2015, Taipei Film Festival and Festival des 3 Continents began hosting the "Produire au Sud Taipei Workshop", organized by the Bureau of Audiovisual and Music Industry Development, Ministry of Culture. The 21th Taipei Film Festival will be held in 2019.

Kaohsiung Film Festival

Often considered the most important film festival in the south of Taiwan, Kaohsiung Film Festival (KFF) is held annually to enlighten new filmmakers of Taiwan on creativity and adventure. One of its signature features is the Kaohsiung International Short Film Competition. With the goal to become Taiwan's Short Film Base, it encourages all mainstream and non-mainstream short films creators to come together in Kaohsiung competing for awards up to US$10,000. Its next edition will be held in October, 2019. An innovative change will also be introduced to the festival to provide access to screen the nominated short films on mobile devices. Submit your short film on Shortfilmdepot (www.shortfilmdepot.com) or visit the KFF website.

Taiwan International Documentary Festival

Founded in 1998, Taiwan International Documentary Festival (TIDF) is one of the major professional platforms for documentaries under Taiwan Film Institute. TIDF is looking for documentaries that are creative, relevant to social and human interests, and have unique points of view. TIDF screens around 120 films, creating some 30,000 visits each edition, and brings quality documentaries and filmmakers together in Taiwan. The Festival consists of three competition categories, including International, Asian Vision and Taiwanese Competition, as well as various non-competition programs. The 12th TIDF will be held in 2020.

Women Make Waves Film Festival, Taiwan

First held in 1993, Women Make Waves Film Festival aims to celebrate the achievements of outstanding female talents, to explore different aspects of women's lives and gender issues, as well as to promote equality and rights of all genders. Between every February and April, the Festival welcomes submissions of feature films, short films, documentaries, animations and experimental films that are innovative in cinematic styles and forms. The films submitted must be directed by at least one female director. The next edition of Women Make Waves Film Festival will be held in October, 2019.

Taichung International Animation Festival

Taichung International Animation Festival (TIAF) is the only city film festival in Taiwan that features solely animation. Founded in 2015, TIAF has established itself as a major international animation festival, popular among movie goers and animators, domestic and abroad alike. In 2018, there are two categories in the competition -- Short Film Competition and Short Film Projects' Pitching Award -- with awards totaling TWD 1.4 million (approx. 46,000 USD), a draw to global filmmakers as well as encouragement for Taiwanese filmmakers to submit their innovative projects. The 5th edition of TIAF will be held in October 2019 in Taichung, Taiwan.
