SYNOPSIS

The story centers around temple youth Wei, who discovers the benefits of being a holdout when his grandfather urgently needs money for surgery. In order to get more money out of property developers, Wei teams up with Rainy, a girl opposed to community reconstruction, to apply for historical landmark status for the temple his grandfather left him.

From performing traditional religious ceremonies to participating in a global singing and dancing competition, Wei and Rainy's efforts to enhance the value of the temple capture the attention of the public. As their relationship grows over time, they also find themselves torn between family, friendship, and even love.

SYNOPSIS

In the deep of the night, an Indonesian migrant fisherman brutally murders the boat captain and his family. Bao-ju, the appointed indigenous public defender, teams up with Jin-ping and Leena, an Indonesian nursing worker, to translate for and defend the suspect. The case heats up when the team uncovers evidence implicating Zhen-xiong, the owner of a fishery group. But when Bao-ju finds a key witness, Zheng-xiong smears his team with fake gossip, tearing them apart. With time running out, Bao-ju must find a way to regroup and save his client from death row.

SYNOPSIS

Gold Leaf, a period drama in Hakka, reproduces the glorious 1950s era of the tea trade in Taiwan. The story depicts the journey of the Sunlight Corp., a tea company owned by tycoon CHANG Fu-chi, from the golden age of Taiwanese tea to a bump in the road in the 1940s, when the Taiwanese tea market entered a transition period.

In 1949, CHANG Yi-hsin, the only daughter of the largest tea exporter in Taiwan, was supposed to find a man for uxori-local marriage to take over her life and the huge business of her father. However, in order to prove her worth, Yi-hsin devotes herself to her debt-ridden family business. In an era where there was no room for "career women", how can she lead the crumbling company to the world stage through trade wars in tea market?

Thirty years after graduation, these senior high school classmates are now 48 years old. The reason for their reunion, surprisingly, is a "Graduating from Marriage" banquet held by the model couple of the class, and this reception shocks everyone in attendance.

Luo-cheng and Mei-hui were mad for each other in high school, but they were broken up by a younger girl in the school. As they meet each other again, each facing problems in marriage, memories of their innocent love from high school prompt them to take one last risk in life.

All other classmates are facing different situations in marriage. This drama covers diverse forms of love — between lovers, families, and friends, fully reflecting real life.

Heaven on the 4th Floor is an anthology series centering on oriental medicine, i.e. massaging, which integrates Eastern, Western, body, mind, social and artistic elements. Amid comfort and fantasy, the audience is led into dialogues between their body and soul.

This series is built upon the love and relationships of the characters. Each episode resonates body meridians and symptoms, and eventually puts together a whole picture of a body. With a pleasant tempo, heartwarming stories and a touch of fantasy, pluralistic stories hidden in local communities of Taiwan offer the audience a high-quality, comforting drama choice containing local elements.

Luck has never been with the protagonist, Jia-hua. She is always in trouble, big or small, and has been so for over 20 years. However, whatever doesn't kill you makes you stronger. After a difficult journey, she finally leaves home for Taipei, where she plans to open a coffee shop with her best friend from college but is betrayed. Her friend runs away with their money. She is kind-hearted, a quality that cannot feed her but is a basic delicacy in the reality of life. With that quality, even when she is unemployed and in debt, Jia-hua chooses to face her own problems, which she doesn't bring home with her. Knee deep in trouble, she accidentally runs for the village chief in her father's place. When her old romantic rival tries to make her life difficult, she fights back. Even when she gets emotional, she tries her best to avoid harming someone else's feelings, creating this fantastic, absurd, interesting, touching and encouraging journey.

Following the events at the end of season one, the family of Jerry, Damian, and their four-year-old son, Kai, now have an additional, uninvited guest — Jimmy, Damian's son from his previous marriage in California, whose unexpected arrival to Taiwan brings much turbulence to the otherwise peaceful family.

Jerry's heart is filled with doubt due to Damian's gentleness toward his ex-wife Kate as well as his love for Jimmy, making him fear that the bisexual Damian might revert to liking girls. Elsewhere, Jerry is also having to deal with his persistent mother, who is constantly pressuring him to make his own baby. Damian, on the other hand, finds himself in a predicament between taking care of Jimmy and facing Jerry.

Season 2 focuses on the intricate dynamics between queer couples and their families. Straight or gay, managing a long-lasting relationship will always require wisdom.

SYNOPSIS

This touching series presented by TTV explores the "blended family" in modern society. Mr. CHANG, a man with five children, remarried twice but preparing for his upcoming third marriage, is bogged down with complicated parent-child relationship problems. As the wedding approaches, will Mr. CHANG's children bless him this time? Meanwhile, a young couple who fell in love is going to become step-siblings after the wedding; will it tear them apart? How can CHANG and his children all live in a same house and overcome these intricate situations? Is it true that families that pray together, stay together?

SYNOPSIS

Dressed in a dashing suit, singing in a pub and picking up young girls, Uncle Martha is going about her usual business when she suddenly meets her long-lost first love whom she still dreams of at night — Mandy. As the two have coffee, Martha learns of some "good" news — Mandy's husband has passed. Her uneventful life is suddenly given purpose when she decides that she wants her back. But it has been 30 years since they last saw each other, and reconnecting proves to be no small challenge. Will Uncle Martha be able to sing an encore with her first love, or will she be doomed to singing the same old tune of heartbreak, over and over again?

Suffering from a foot disease, Ah-zhong stubbornly insists on going to Pingtung. With no alternative, Yan-bo feels forced to take Ah-zhong there, but father and son drive the whole way in silence, and their relationship is strained and distant. When the car suddenly breaks down along the way, the two return to Mama's old hometown, the small town of Yuanli. Father and son have seldom returned since Mama passed away, and they are obviously not familiar with all the changes in the town. While looking for a hotel in which to spend the night, they happen to run into Mama's sister-in-law. Encountering a relative they have not seen in many years, the two feel deeply uncomfortable. What happened in the past gets mentioned again when people talk, and we see that this matter has caused Yan-bo deep regret for many years. After former classmate Mr. TSAI turns up, Ah-zhong begins displaying abnormal behavior and emotions, and the matters on Yan-bo's mind gradually unravel...

Let's travel back in time and watch this story about a diplomat... In a beautiful valley, children can catch as many fluttering butterflies as they want. By turning these butterflies into beautiful artworks, people made large sums of money and became materially comfortable. From a young age, the diplomat relied on catching these butterflies to get the money she needed for studies and daily expenses. When the diplomat retires and returns to Taiwan, she realizes that the butterfly valley from her childhood no longer exists, destroyed by industrialization. Dejected, she makes up her mind to restore the butterfly valley. She transforms into a fluttering butterfly and flies toward the valley to bring back the beautiful scenery of the past.

SYNOPSIS

This is a reality show that allows children to experience different things in the wild. We provided a semi-controlled environment, a professional coach, and a custom-made experiment procedure. Like producing a documentary, we recorded children's reactions to whatever happened to and around them. Each child has their own unique background and personality, which put the show in a class of its own. During the shooting, we constantly reminded ourselves to keep an open mind and allowed the story to develop itself.

SYNOPSIS

This program tells the audience stories about children from around the world. Using events that have actually happened, we want to show young audiences diverse cultures in different parts of the world, and they will learn to appreciate their own blessings from seeing other people's suffering. Furthermore, they will also learn to have empathy. We will use three pictures to inspire children's imaginations to create a new story.

The theme of our series is closely linked to the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) put forwards by the United Nations. We thus put forth a question, tied to one of the SDGs, to allow the children to think, explore, make them curious, and start a dialogue.

SYNOPSIS

This program performs a bold experiment by letting a father and mother put their longings into action by sending their kids to live with another family. With their kids temporarily serving as the other couple's children, the original father and mother can briefly escape their tense relationship with their offspring. This experiment seeks to give children an all new set of values, while also letting them learn first hand that there are no perfect parents. The parents are also able see new possibilities in their kids, and realize the meaning of "You don't own your kids". Sometimes a temporary separation can be a chance to re-establish a relationship, and can bring about a big improvement in parent-child relations!

#REALITY SHOW

Let's Go 48 Hours is a children's TV show. Each episode has 12 children selected to complete missions together. In every episode, we provide rich materials and opportunities so the children can discover things on their own, express themselves, and interact with others. Every mission is designed from the perspective of children, in order to let them interact with nature and local culture, so that they are able to obtain new skills in the process of exploring. In the midst of challenges, they need to solve all kinds of problems under different circumstances. It not only tests their strength but also their endurance and wisdom.

SYNOPSIS

Hakka people use "not having enough salt" to describe a physically weak person. From the traditional Hakka perspective, salt is a source of energy and a symbol of Hakka culture. In the early days, Hakka people engaged in heavy labor; to quickly gain energy, they needed to eat more salt. As time passed, salt became a symbol of a person's strength and courage in Hakka culture. With "magic" as the main theme, The Magician of Taste cleverly depicts the process of making preserved snacks such as pickled radish, pickled mustard greens and pickled pork to showcase Hakka pickling culture.

SYNOPSIS

The Trail of Camphor (Sai Lou of Camphor) is also known as Raknus Selu Trail. "Raknus" means "camphor tree" in the Atayal and Saisiyat languages. "Sai Lou" means "trail" in Hakka Chinese. In the early days, the camphor and tea leaves used for exchanges between villages or camphor exports had to be transported via this route. The 400 km-long Raknus Selu Trail is now the longest national trail in Taiwan. Mountain Charming is a show that allows the audience to learn about the Raknus Selu Trail.

This is a story about “company.” Aging societies are a global trend. Dementia is an issue that people must face. The old man in the film imitates a crowing rooster while looking at a rooster in a photo to reminisce his old days working as a farmer. The end of the film shows the child and father accompanying the grandfather to the rooftop to imitate crowing roosters as the sun rises.

The three of them watch the bustling city streets together. Because of the rooster crowing sound, the demented grandfather can finally feel the company and understanding of his family, and his life is filled with vigor on a busy morning in the city.

Everyone dreams every day. A dream always seems very mysterious, but it also reflects the conditions of one's mind. Dollargut Dream Department Store was the most popular novel in Korea in 2020. The author, LEE Mi-ye, wrote this story about a department store that made dreams for different people, and discusses problems in different aspects of life. It was the most stress-relieving fantasy novel and the bestseller of the year in Korea.

In this episode, students from different parts of Taiwan came together with all kinds of dreams, and through a psychologist, learned in a scientific way everything about dreams, and also about themselves through their dreams.

#REALITY SHOW

In this show, performing artists try to experience business operations from all walks of life. The first store is an old house with a hundred years of history. Shotgun TUO, Aaron YAN, Yuanhao YAO, Gemma WU, Johnny YANG, and Yoshi YEN participate together and use their creativity to give the old house new life through transformation. The house becomes a hybrid store with the spirit of local small farmers in Taiwan!

Let's Open is not only about managing a store; it is also about cultivating love of the land and the caring interactions between people.

SYNOPSIS

The brand-new season 4 of Slow Travel Adventures adds "the sparks of middle-aged men" to the journey. In every trip, the wits and ideas of the two hosts collide and create various sparks, adding extra flavors to the journey. Meeting friends who haven't seen each other for a long time, tasting food that is deeply missed, imagining Taiwan in different eras through scenes of the present, and evoking various feelings by revisiting the same spots — all valid motivations for traveling. The curious encounters in each trip always inspire new thoughts for the two hosts. The life decisions and wisdom of people from different regions, the changes of seasonal scenery, the respect of history, and the memories and life experiences of the two hosts will also be revealed throughout the trip.

SYNOPSIS

In its third season, Taiwanese variety show Three Piglets brings the B&B business to Chengkung Town, Taitung, a fishing village between the mountains and the ocean. The dining car series reunites the regular team of the B owner YANG Kuei-mei, chef SHIH Ming-shuai, the assistant WEN Chen-ling, and Austin LIN, who works part-time in exchange for lodging. The four piglets will utilize the seaside environment to explore the potential of the "Three Piglets". In addition to the fine service of receiving guests and the pop-up catering, the management team will introduce local features into the business, such as canoeing, surfing and other water sports. The most healing elements of the program, beautiful scenery and hospitality, are definitely still included. This visit to the seaside Chengkung Town aims to dive into local life and appreciate the beauty of "taking time" in Taitung.

SYNOPSIS

LI Fu-ping lives in a village by the sea. His father was a drunkard, so the family depended on the mother doing odd jobs to bring money home. Being poor and suffering from polio made him feel inferior. He would also steal things from people, so it became everyone's stereotypical image of him. Whenever something was stolen in the village, everyone would suspect him first. After his beloved mother passed away, his life became more difficult, because he was handicapped and unemployed for a long time.

Tzu Chi volunteer, SHI Zhe-fu, also lived in the same village, so he invited Fu-ping to do recycling with him, and visited him constantly to give him a helping hand. Mrs. SHI would also cook meals, and invite Fu-ping to join them for lunch. Fu-ping's life became better because of the care from this couple. One day he fell ill and should be hospitalized, but he ran away from the hospital...

This episode, Dear, You Are Not Alone, tells two stories on dementia from the views of caretakers, because the mental and the physical conditions of a caretaker affect how the caretaker will treat the patient. We truthfully recorded the caretakers' awkward moments while caring for the patients, and their facial expressions. We hope it will allow the public to gain a better understanding about caring for dementia patients.

This episode documented two stories: a busy couple caring for the husband's demented mother, and a group of siblings caring for their demented father. Before finding a good way to look after the patient, the caretakers in both groups experienced a lot of misunderstanding and miseries. The two groups allowed us to follow them closely to capture every moment of caring for their demented family members. They also told us willingly how they felt about caring for their family members, so this episode is very truthful and valuable.

In the capital city, 60-year-old Mr. LIN has just retired. He accompanies his toddler grandson to walk the dog in small alleys. Every day, his mailbox is full of flyers for new construction projects for sale. The development of this city of galvanized iron sheet seems indefinite, and he feels like he's walking in a dark tunnel with no end in sight. In this city constantly demolished and reconstructed, young people are forced to live on the outskirts, as houses they cannot afford take up the cityscape. ### SYNOPSIS

May Sea Turtles Be with You. ... Always is a special unit of the Our Island documentary series. It tells a group of volunteers devoted to saving sea turtles after witnessing the threat to sea turtles from human activities such as coastal development, habitat reduction, and floating garbage. Docile and graceful, sea turtles hold a deservedly special place in our hearts and imagination. There is so much mystery regarding these gentle creatures that remains unknown and under investigation to this day. As a critical environmental indicator species, sea turtles provide unambiguous evidence of the condition of marine environments. Their plight has rallied people worldwide to work collectively on solutions and has helped change our behavior, and potentially opened a path to salvation for both them and us.

Orphans of the Earth is a documentary television series that serves humanity and ecology. It is solely produced by local TV crews in Taiwan to trace global endangered species with a Taiwan perspective. The production team has traveled to all seven continents around the world, from ice-covered arctic regions in -30°C temperatures to tropical rainforests in 40°C heat. From penguins in Antarctica, polar bears in Arctic tundra, rhinoceroses in South Africa, sloths in Costa Rica, brown bears in Russia, lions in Africa, to Formosan black bears and leopard cats in Taiwan, this program sets out to capture the animals in original landscapes, integrating scientific knowledge, professional data, civilization, culture and humanitarian care. Audiences can thus closely observe the survival challenges of endemic species, and take an in-depth look at how extreme weather, shrinking habitats, illegal hunting, as well as over consumption and development of human beings have led to the disappearance of millions of creatures on earth.

SYNOPSIS

Longdu Elementary School is a hundred-year-old school in a village in Kaohsiung. During the Japanese colonial period, it was a school of agriculture for teaching farming skills. In 2004, a teacher called HUANG Hong-song extended the education from the campus to the fields.

HUANG Wei-chen, nicknamed Ming, is a alumnus of Longdu Elementary School. He didn't do well in school, especially in math, but he often won in all kinds of farming contests. He looks like a winner in the village, but nobody knows how hard he has worked.

Covering the life experiences of these two men in a farming village, this documentary revives the old values of Taiwan.

SYNOPSIS

The most tormenting suffering is the agony one feels when one is sick. What does the medical system need to end the suffering? It needs people who are devoted to caring for sick people, because they will give love to patients willingly.

This program documents the story of every patient fighting for their life, the choices the medical teams have to make in treating the patients, and the personal experiences of family members in caring for their loved ones.

It is love that can help patients endure the agonizing pain, and give medical staff the strength to continue their life-saving missions. It also allows the patients to show his or her will.

SYNOPSIS

For years the prodigious Rosalyn, a gifted mathematics logician and talented artist, has been investigating the death of her grandfather Kirk JIANG. But one day, everything changed for her when both her sister and parents were killed in the same car accident in Taipei. While piecing the clues together, she discovers a shocking connection to the death of her family and a clandestine exhibition Kirk attended many years ago of the painting Scenes of Hell at the famous Wanli Zai Museum of Taipei. Since many other former attendees have also died of mysterious causes, Rosalyn decides to seek out the owner of the Museum, a History Professor at the Union University of Northern Taiwan (UUNT), Elder SUEN.

At the same time, a famous investigative reporter, Kaito SHEN, is looking into the secrets of the pro-nuclear organization, Wantao, when his girlfriend mysteriously dies after acquiring confidential information. Believing Wantao is connected to her death, Kaito decides to investigate LU Jian-Chiun, the Dean of UUNT, who has close ties to the Organization. During his investigation of the school, Kaito encounters Rosalyn and the two discover they share a common foe, and pool their information together to uncover the truth.

SYNOPSIS

Since 1952, hundreds of European missionaries have come to Taiwan and devoted their lives to Eastern Taiwan. Many of them settled down and humbly dedicated their lives to helping others for more than half a century. This includes the European priest Yves MOAL from Missions Étrangères de Paris, Gabriel DÉLÈZE from Congrégation du Grand-Saint-Bernard, and Josef EUGSTER from Societas Missionaria de Bethlehem. This series documentary series aims to rebuild this forgotten history in Taiwan. These European priests who come from foreign missions delved into indigenous tribes, learned indigenous languages and culture, worked with local people to develop the tribes, and took care of vulnerable groups. All of these stories are important to Taiwan's history but are known by very few people.

Scavenger "Cockroach" becomes a garbage recycling man for a secret and abnormal reason: he can sense and "collect" people's "intentions." In his family, only virgin males have been gifted with this superpower. If they fall in love and have sex, they will become normal person.

It's quite easy to collect simple and strong intentions such as wishes to fall in love or lose weight. All Cockroach needs to do is to walk by and breathe in air forcibly and then put it into bottles. Since Cockroach can sense all intentions of people, he cannot do a normal job and chooses to become a lonely, isolated recycling man. However, as he collects more bottled intentions, he also collects more and more "precious" objects from his customers, since they have to desert a precious object to exchange a "right" intention to help them achieve their goal.

Han was raised in a night market as the successor to a small but old milkfish stand, and Li has been his best friend since childhood as well as an indispensable helper at the stand. Upon graduating from high school, Han took over the family business, despite having always dreamed of opening his own restaurant.

One day, Han meets Chen-sen, a cookery teacher with a degree from a Swiss catering school, through his brother Zhen. As they steadily learn more and more about each other and their cuisine, they begin to develop romance and eventually decide to transform Han's family food stand together into a West-meets-Taiwan style restaurant. When the restaurant opens, Zhen brings a bunch of his friends to support them, and Li seems to be having a little something with the handsome new waiter...

Hao is a preserved flower artist whose Instagram page of his floral studio is celebrating its milestone of hitting 100,000 followers. Jay, his friend who works for an online select shop company, asks him to join their Christmas event.

At the pitch meeting, Hao meets Yuan-cheng, the manager of the company, who tells him nonchalantly that he is "allergic to flower, romance, and serendipities." Later, Hao takes him to Yilan, where they see an old couple, and Hao tells him: "I was raised by my grandparents. They were together for 60 years — a form of love which I hope to restore to our generation." After a pause, he continues, "You know, preserved flowers (eternal flowers in Chinese) are allergy-free." Yuan-cheng falls silent, but at length admits that he is intrigued. He formally invites Hao and his flowers into his life and business, saying, "We'll be seeing each other a lot during the next four weeks..."

To protect prospective buyers from unwittingly buying properties with stigmas attached (crime, murder/suicide, paranormal activity, etc.), the Happy Real Estate Agency launches the “Happy Stigmatized House App” and creates a special investigations team to build a map and database of stigmatized properties across the Greater Taipei region.

Faced with paying off her mother’s debts and selling the stigmatized property her missing father left behind when he disappeared 18 years ago, optimistic and hardworking agent LU An-chi takes on the Happy Stigmatized House App assignment. Desperate for money and not afraid of ghosts, An-chi partners up with rookie assistant YO Da-chih, who can see dead people but loses his psychic abilities whenever he sneezes. Together, they begin a series of investigations into properties that have been stigmatized for various reasons. Along the way, they are gradually changed by their profound experiences, realizing that they are not just investigators and detectives, but also psychotherapists, life consultants, and even enforcers of justice...

Apart from detailing the struggles and intricacies of working as a real estate agent, the series also aims to showcase contemporary Taiwanese culture and beliefs, as well as the urban charm of Greater Taipei.

Haven is the most popular streaming platform in the world. People from all over stream content ranging from video games, travel, music, pranks, to talk shows.

Anyone can stream and gain a following. However, due to the highly competitive nature of the platform, streamers have to constantly push out fresh new content to satisfy their fickle fans. Because of that, it’s not uncommon for streamers to resort to questionable methods such as sex, violence, and stupidity to secure their fame. As a science genius with limited friends, KAO regarded Haven to be the only chance to empower himself with influence. When he struggles to gain more attention with science experiment streaming, a car accident occurs during filming and a man dies. However, the accident is regarded as joke in Haven and the video goes viral immediately! To keep up his popularity, KAO starts to “create” accidents in science experiment streaming again and again as his life gradually spirals out of control...

In addition to academic pressure, children in primary school also have a lot of other troubles beyond adults' imagination. After school and before dark, a game of hide-and-seek is often the best stress relief for most kids facing daytime pressures. Yet every hide-and-seek game of the four children in this story is not just for relief but the unfolding of a fantastic adventure that suggests a better way to solve problems.

The game starts with a countdown shouted by the player drawn to be "it". When the countdown ends, the game begins. All the players in the game can never imagine what they will see until at the moment they open their eyes. The four children will find themselves brought into a fantasy world that reflects their daytime world.

A saying circulates online about the sales department of the nation's largest media group, Winners' Weekly: "One would rather end up in a monastery than Winners' Weekly."

However, there are still many fearless entry-level job seekers vying to get into the perilous workplace. Chien and CHOU Yi are two examples. The former, 22, is a docile, detailed-oriented girl who follows every single word of all protocols verbatim. The latter, 21, is a hyper stuck-up ex-E-sports player.

The two rookies are then brought to the same division by fate. Overwhelmed by her supervisor and stressed out by her sales goals, Chien finds herself confronted by CHOU Yi, who appears to be a jerk to her and pushes her to the edge of a virtual breakdown. While the two don't get along in the beginning, they have to engage with each other in some projects. As they try to cope with the daily petty, nitty-gritty, a sudden personnel announcement brings the office to a boil.

Whether you are a rookie or an old hand, you have to find your survival tips.

SYNOPSIS

It is the last match for YANG Yong, a washed-up Taiwanese judoka who was once a prodigy. Disillusioned, he is ready to retire after this last dance at the Belgrade World Championships. However, a fateful encounter alters his path as he falls in love with North Korea's judo gold medalist Hee-Jin. They are forced apart but manage to make promises to meet at the next international tournament.

To meet again, YANG Yong must win a spot at the Pyongyang Asian Championships. The power of love enables YANG Yong to break out of his slump and make the team. They reunite at the games, but Hee-Jin unexpectedly loses to her South Korean opponent. Dishonored, she is disqualified from the national team and sentenced to serve in the labor camp.

The star-crossed lovers now face dilemmas that only they can overcome. YANG Yong must compete to win and also find a way to rescue Hee-Jin. To save herself from her hellish predicament, Hee-Jin must win gold for North Korea once more. Whether in judo or in life, the two must win to have the chance to love again. But winning is never easy.

The pinky swear is an act that may seem childish, but when taken seriously, it can also represent an unwavering vow. At seven and 17 years old, LUO Yang-yang made promises to CHEN An-yu and delivered each time, comforting An-yu's insecurity caused by his low self-esteem and broken family. Just when their relationship is about to blossom from friends to sweet lovers, an accident suddenly strikes An-yu's family. As he learns an undesirable truth, An-yu makes the decision to move far away. From the moment they reunite at 27, they both face the choice of either just giving in and going with the flow or following what their hearts initially desired. As a pair of lovers who have already broken up, they each use their own ways to safeguard every "pinky swear" they made to each other in the past, redefining their sweet commitment in love.

JIANG has just begun his career as an after-school tutor. He has a great sense of humor in teaching but suffers from intimacy issues due to the influence of his parents who endure lifelong mental illnesses. Failing to obtain commitment, JIANG's girlfriend Lan decides to run away from JIANG and works as an elementary school teacher in a remote village. In order to reconnect with Lan, JIANG applies for an internship at a school there as well. Eventually, JIANG not only rekindles the spark with Lan, his passion for education is also reignited.

However, he still has his own problems that need to be overcome: Will JIANG suffer from mental illness just like his parents? Does he still have the ability to love?

SYNOPSIS

At age 12, in the twilight of the Chinese Civil War, GAO Bing-han followed the Nationalist government in their exodus to Taiwan under his mother's orders. Now, in his 80s and a lawyer, GAO encounters three mothers in his work. The first is HONG, who tolerates her son's violence. The second is JIANG, an indigenous woman who isn't accepted by her father-in-law. And the last one is XIE, who seems elegant on the surface but is greatly depressed due to her family problems. In the midst of dealing with the conflicts of these three, GAO can't help but sigh: "Did the war really end?"

At a glance, this is a crime-action anthology about survival, where our victimized characters are forced to break out of their tragic situations. However, at the core, it's a unique character study about the human struggle to preserve a sense of family and home during our darkest times.

Using the backdrop of Taiwan throughout different periods will create a fascinating cultural dynamic for our audience. The infamous crimes and cultural nuances are what will captivate them. But the exploration of global themes through the concept of family will make the stories relatable to a wide range of Asian viewers.

Gay graduate student XU Chun-mao came from a mafia family, but he chose to conceal his background and become a research assistant where, in the name of "academic research", he plans to return to the underworld to avenge the death of his parents. Through his sister XU Tian, he is introduced to Nan-ge, who arranges for him to live with a group of "Siàu-liân-á" in the underworld.

What is the story behind the vulgarity, tattoos, drinking, and intense loyalty of these "Siàu-liân-á" embarking on this dark road? As their relationships develop, Chun-mao discovers that he is more interested in the honest and physical reactions of these brothers, whether it is a brother who is obsessed with leather shoes, an immature underage brother, or a brother with dark childhood secrets... He even falls in love with ""Aang,"" the brother sent by Nan-ge to protect him.

But crisis approaches as Chun-mao falls into a quagmire because of his revenge plan, where he must decide the true meaning of brotherhood.

This program carried out a year of field research in the spirit of originality, and realized that there are many problems in society, such as the wealth gap and the aging remote villages, which have led to an exodus of young people. Thus, we invite celebrities to transform fishing villages in an entertaining way, including the camping area business model that young people love most.

We hope that society will pay more attention to these issues. The main location of the filming, Yuanbei, is located on an outlying island in Penghu. It only takes 20 minutes to walk around the island. With Yuanbei Island surrounded by sea, we have also extended our focus to marine environmental protection, which is of concern all over the world. By planting coral, and regenerating marine waste, we combine the unique culture and art of Penghu.

Dadaocheng is located on the west side of Taipei City. Its geographical location adjacent to the Tamsui River drove local commerce and trade, contributing to its early development and prosperity. As time went by, many old buildings have become eye-catching, dilapidated landmarks wedged between busy streets. The Former Residence of Lee Lin-chiu is one of them. This film will look into the past, unlocking the history of this important and unique historical building.

PRESENTED BY

Taiwan Creative Content Agency ( TAICCA )

Taiwan Creative Content Agency (TAICCA), established in June 2019 and supported by the Ministry of Culture, is a professional intermediary organization that promotes the development of Taiwan's content industries. TAICCA supports various cultural content industries in Taiwan, including film and television, pop music, publishing, ACG, and fashion, artworks, and cultural technologies. With advanced information and communication infrastructure and emerging technologies in Taiwan, such as 5G and AI, TAICCA manages the National Development Fund to develop intellectual property (IP), incubate culture technologies, and facilitate startups. Through international distribution channels, TAICCA strives to promote Taiwan's creative economy and cultural brand in the world.
